Final Friday Film Night: "Midnight Special"

June 30, 2017, 6:30-9:00 pm,
Room 206

We wrap up our conversation about God's call and our response (We're on a Mission from God series) with Midnight Special (2016, rated PG-13). A modern-day reimagining of the Holy Family's flight to Egypt blended with Superman's origin story, the film was written and directed by Jeff Nichols, the director of Academy Award nominated films Take Shelter, Mud and Loving. Roy's (actor Michael Shannon) sunlight-sensitive young son, Alton, has mysterious powers that are coveted by religious extremists. On the run, Roy will risk everything to help Alton find his ultimate purpose...whatever that may be. This is a movie about faith, the bonds of love and trust, and the potential for human spiritual evolution. Childcare & transportation are available - contact Gina Dawson to reserve your spot (gdawson@faithworkshere.com).

Sharing the Story of God with the Children this Summer

We have an amazing story to share... the Story of God through God's relationship with God's people! Stories transform us and shape us into the disciples God calls us to live as. Will you join the children on our Story Quest this summer? You can help out or be the main storyteller. Just sign up online at www.signupgenius.com/go/2ofod4da8af2ca13-summer1 or contact Gina Dawson at gdawson@faithworkshere.com. See you on the quest!

Book Discussion: "Strangers in Their Own Land: Anger and Mourning on the American Right" Friday, July 21, 2017, 7:30-9:00pm

What would it be like to cross the empathy gap? The next book in "the Other" series is by sociologist Arlie Russell Hochschild, who considers herself a Berkeley liberal. When she began her research over 5 years ago she was "becoming alarmed at the increasingly hostile split in our nation between two political camps. To many on the left, the Republican Party and Fox News seemed intent on dismantling much of the federal government. To many on the right, that government itself was a power-amassing elite. Since that time both parties have split their seams and Donald Trump has burst onto the scene, quickening the pulse of American political life. I had some understanding of the liberal left, but what was happening on the right? Most people who ask this question come at it from a political perspective. And while I have my views too, as a sociologist I had a keen interest in how life feels to the people on the right, the emotion underlying the politics. To understand their emotions, I had to imagine myself into their shoes. Trying this, I came upon their 'deep story,' a narrative as felt."

For five years, Hochschild met with people and followed their lives in Lake Charles, Louisiana (the area that had the least number of white voters for Barack Obama). She conducted in-depth interviews and observed life, getting to know their "deep story."

Books are available outside the Church Office at the mailboxes. Just pick one up, write your name on the sign-up sheet, and reimburse the church at our discussion on July 21st ($15). Questions? Contact Gina Dawson at gdawson@faithworkshere.com.

“Eat for Heat” Update

Many thanks to the over 100 people (including about 20 members of the Mizo congregation) who came to Il Porto Monday night to support our Eat for Heat Event. Our event raised $1,150! In addition, we’ve received over $8,000 in donations toward our goal of $13,000 - the amount that would allow us to replace the range as well as the double ovens. If you’d like to help us close the gap, checks can be made out to Faith UMC with “ovens” in the memo line. Special thanks to Jim & Karen Johnston for organizing the event and to the congregation for its support!
